See for yourself... Bio-Strath is the most complete tonic on the market!

Bio-Strath contains the nutritional yeast "Torula cerevisiae," also known as "Saccharomyces cerevisiae" which is an excellent source of natural B vitamins.

Thanks to a special manufacturing process developed by Bio-Strath, the yeast is fed selected plant extracts before being liquefied by fermentation to yield plasmolyzed yeast. The yeast cell contents are released naturally, without the use of heat, to better preserve the integrity of the nutrients.

The plasmolysis process prevents the yeast from multiplying, avoiding the risk of yeast proliferation for people who suffer from Candida albicans.

Because the nutrients are provided in their natural and whole form, they work together in synergy, allowing for easier digestion and absorption than if they were taken individually.
